Three Peculiarities
The superior qualities of Hood's Sarsaparilla are secured by three peculiarities, viz.:
First.—The combination of remedies used.
Second.—The proportion in which they are mixed.
Third.—The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.
These are peculiar to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are unlike any other. The result of these peculiarities is a medicine of unusual strength, which effects cures hitherto unknown. A trial, or even a glance at the article, inspires confidence because it bears unquestionable indication of a thorough understanding on the part of those who originated it.
A peculiarity of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is obvious to all is one Hundred doses for one dollar—an unanswerable argument as to economy. If you are sick, try this medicine. It will purify your blood, and you may reasonably expect it will. The cures effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla are startling, and are daily adding to its unparalleled evidence of its worth. Don't be induced to buy any other, but insist upon having what you want, and you may reasonably expect it will. The cures effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla are startling, and are daily adding to its unparalleled evidence of its worth. Don't be induced to buy any other, but insist upon having what you want, and you may reasonably expect it will.

Unknown To Others
My little girl was afflicted with scrofula. So virulent was the disease, that boils broke out and had been lanced at times. At the time she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla there was a very large bunch on her face. This we expected to open with the lancet, but to our surprise the bunch began to shrink, and now it has entirely disappeared. Baby has gained flesh, sores all gone, her appetite is good, and she seems as well as any child.—William M. Conant, Lynn Centre, N. H.
Attest: I live neighbor to Mr. and Mrs. Conant and have always known them. The above statement is true. Theodore Balch.

Scrofula
Hood's Sarsaparilla will cure, when in the power of medicine, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Dyspepsia, Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, General Debility, Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaint, Catarrh, Female Weakness, Cancerous Humors, Humors of the Face, Ringworm, Pimples, Syphilitic Affections, Ulcers, Sores, Tumors, Scald Head, and all diseases arising from an impure state or low condition of the blood.
Appetite poor? Bowels all out of order? Scrofulous sores on my face and back. I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and with three bottles my sores healed and I am at business again.—J. Ashberg, Chicago, Ill.

Purify Your Blood
Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of sarsaparilla, dandelion, stillingia, yellow dock and other vegetable remedies, by the process long and well known to druggists and chemists as the most perfect and effective in which to extract the curative properties and powers of medicinal roots. It is forty per cent. above proof, and a concentrated extract. It is fortified by all the best blood purifiers, and is the most reliable and economical blood medicine ever offered to the public. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best. Try it. If you have made up your mind to buy Sarsaparilla, buy Hood's, and only Hood's. If you now suffering from Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Catarrh, Dyspepsia or any blood disease, and have not the time or inclination to write for pamphlet containing statements of more wonderful cures than we have space to publish, we will be glad to send you a book containing a few of the most wonderful cures effected.

STATE NEWS

Aroostook

At the recent town meeting in Presque Isle, the selectmen were instructed to purchase a town farm, stock it, buy necessary tools, etc., in accordance with these instructions, the selectmen have looked at a number of farms, and finally decided to purchase the Tarbell farm, paying $2,000 for it, says the Republican.

S. T. Milbury, of Houlton, has hauled during the past winter from Stacey's mill sixteen miles to the Medway tannery, 1,700 cords of bark. He also hauled for the Shaw tannery, New Limerick, 1,600 cords. Upwards of one hundred horses were employed in the work.

At the installation of the Baptist church in Easton, a council met at the Colburn school house, March 20th, to consider the propriety of ordaining Thomas McDonald. After examination of the candidate the council voted to proceed to ordination in the afternoon. The sermon was preached by Rev. N. T. Dutton, of Houlton, Rev. C. Henderson, of Andover, N. H. offered the ordaining prayer, Rev. C. E. Young gave the Hand of Fellowship and charge to the church, and Rev. N. T. Dutton, gave the charge to the candidate.

The instruments for Houlton's new band cost $800. The band is to be paid for from public hall, was almost dedicated the debt on them to $350. This is doing well, and they will have the debt fully paid before many months more. Aroostook has certainly made unusual progress and cured me of my lameness. I feel literally years younger than I did.—Harriet Wilson, Burnham, Me.

Cumberland

The difficulty between Scarboro and the Eastern Railroad about the railroad bridge at West Scarboro has been settled. The railroad agreed to keep open a passage way of sixteen feet through the bridge but in violation of this agreement put in a covered stone bridge, with two side ways six feet wide. The town left the matter with the selectmen and town agent to settle. The railroad pay $400, and agree to allow a landing place forever on their land and the town releases them from the old contract. The railroad also agrees with the Dyking Co. to allow them to put the gates into the bridge.

An attempt was made Tuesday to burn the building in Saccarappa, occupied by County Treasurer Webb as a dwelling house, and by Lewis Edwards, store. A fire was set in the cellar on a platform which leads from one tenement to the other. When the fire was discovered the flames had made considerable headway but they were subdued before any damage to speak of had been done.

The section men, on a hand car on the Maine Central railroad had a narrow escape from death, Wednesday morning. As they were rounding the curve in Freeport, a wild train came upon them and they barely escaped with their lives. The hand car was completely demolished and the men, although not injured, were very much frightened.

Mr. Charles C. Richards, of Portland, has a violin valued at $100 which he highly prizes for its tone and antiquity. He had left it in Chandler's band room, on Sunday evening, he felt uneasy about it, and although dissuaded by his wife from going out in the storm he persisted in going to the rooms and bringing the violin home. A few hours later the fire broke out which destroyed the contents of the band room.

Rev. James McWhinnie of the Free street church, Portland, has accepted a call from the Central Square Baptist church in Cambridge, Mass., at a salary of $4,000 a year. Mr. McWhinnie served in the war of the rebellion, losing a leg at the battle of Chancellorsville. He is an able and eloquent preacher, and has labored faithfully there for a number of years.

Franklin.

About ten days ago, Mrs. Leavitt, of Norridgewock, wife of the late Dr. W. A. Leavitt, went to Josiah Cutler's in Starks to spend a day or two with her blind brother. At night she showed him to his room and was returning when she stepped off the head of the stairs and fell to the bottom of a very long flight, striking on her head and shoulders. She was taken up insensible and for some time was supposed to be dead. Upon examination it was found that she had broken her shoulder and cut a terrible gash in her head.

Kennebec.

The Augusta Journal says it is rumored that a veteran soldier fell dangerously sick at the house of a near relative in the town of Appleton. He had applied for and was almost certain of a pension with arrearages amounting to several hundred dollars. The soldier died before the pension papers were signed. A scheme was put up to furnish a widow and get the pension. It is said that a woman was procured and married to the corpse several hours after death to bring about the desired end.

The Augusta Journal learns that a large number of rumsellers are to be indicted at the present term of Court. Twenty Waterville witnesses were before the jury Tuesday. One hundred and twenty five witnesses have been summoned from Gardiner to appear. It is understood that spotters have been abroad in the latter city and have purchased liquor at a large number of places.

Lincoln.

Peter Cushman, of Newcastle, who fell from the roof of his house, died of his injuries, Tuesday.

Piscataquis.

A son of Dr. Brown, of Atkinson, was taken very ill one day last week and is said to be carried home. His father has also been critically ill for several weeks.

Somerset.

A family gathering took place at the residence of Otis Hall, Moose River, to celebrate Mr. Hall's 65th anniversary. Out of a family of twelve children fourteen are now living. All were present but one. A beautiful repast was provided, at which there were forty persons.

Oyster salad, which is perfectly delicious, is made by cooking oysters in as little water as is possible to use, drain this off when they are done, and pour over them a regular salad dressing. If you choose you may sprinkle over this crisp cabbage chopped very fine or celery, also chopped fine. With turkey or game of any kind, this cannot be equalled as an entree.

To ornament the top of a loaf of chocolate cake, make a little white frosting, and after spreading the chocolate frosting over the cake, make scallops or rings with the white. If it is made a little stiffer with sugar than the chocolate frosting, it will keep its shape perfectly, and will add very much to the good appearance of the cake. It may be put on with a spoon, or, if more carefully done, will make a little funnel of stiff white paper, and drop it through that.

An excellent flavor may be given to beef soup by adding to a quart a tablespoonful of tomato catsup.

Put suet in kettle is recommended for a soup kettle or to oil the stock in. The soup made in it will not be injured by standing as it often is in an iron kettle, but it is best if you have a quantity of suet to have a large earthen bowl or dish that is light and more easily handled to keep the stock in. If you wish to prepare your stock to be gelatinous put broken bones into it and let them simmer in it for several hours.

A very good white layer cake is made by beating one cup of butter to a cream, stir in to it one cup and a half of flour, it will take time to do this but it can be done, then add one cup of sweet milk and two cups of cornstarch in which you have mixed two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, lastly add the whites of eight eggs beaten to a stiff froth and with two cupfuls of sugar beaten with them, flavor to suit the taste. In cakes of eggs will make a fine fruit layer cake, to be made later in the season, and almost any fresh fruit can be used as a filling.

Household Hints

There are at least three ways in which oysters may be broiled. First, select large oysters, dry them by laying them on soft linen cloth, as that will readily absorb the moisture, sprinkle pepper and salt over them and broil on a very flat wire broiler which folds. Have a platter very hot waiting for them, and little lumps of butter divided ready to put on each one as it is laid on the platter. Another way is to dip the oysters in butter after drying them, then in fine cracker-crumbs, then broil and serve as above. Still another way is to take a piece of wire and string the oysters on it with a small piece of pork next to each oyster, take your broiler hot and twist the ends of the wire into the toaster and hold it over a hot fire. If you like salt pork, serve it. Put the oysters on a platter with the pork around it, pepper well.

A very excellent soup is flavored with carrots, to be called oatmeal soup take a good beef bone or a knuckle of veal have at least three quarts of cold water and plenty of salt after it has boiled for half an hour add one quart of table carrots, sliced very thin, add rice or barley, pepper and a little dried parsley, boil one hour longer. This may be strained, or be served with a tablespoonful of tapioca. Serve in each plate of soup. Some cooks prefer chopping the carrots fine, but this is a matter of taste.

A correspondent writes that comfort for an invalid may be obtained by having a spring bed arranged in this way. Quite a third of the length from the head have a shingle that one may be raised to a sitting posture without any effort on the part of the occupant. There are plenty of spring beds made to raise the head and shoulders, but not the whole body. The mattress should be made in two parts to correspond with the bed. Such an arrangement as this might be made at small expense, and it would well take the place of the costly invalid beds, which so few can afford to have.

A great convenience is found in this simple contrivance: have a tin dish made, tapering, and with a long handle, large enough around so that you can place it inside the tea kettle, it is invaluable when there is sickness in the family, as there are so many occasions when one needs to cook gruel or custards at short notice and with perfect immunity from the danger of burning, even though constant attention cannot be given them.

Rhubarb or pie plant may not only be preserved in cans, but may be made into jelly. After rinsing the stalks in cold water, cut them in pieces, and with only about enough water to cover them, put them in a porcelain kettle; let them boil until nothing seems to be left but a soft pulp. Strain through a flannel jelly bag. To each pint of this juice add a pound of sugar, let it boil after putting the sugar in, and try it by taking out a little and putting it on a cold plate, when it "jellies" at once, it is safe to pour it into bowls.

A delicious pudding is made by stirring one pint of thick sweet cream with three ounces of sugar and the yolks of three eggs. Sprinkle fine bread crumbs over the bottom of a pudding dish, then put the cream over it, and a thin layer of bread crumbs on the top, bake this for half an hour in a hot oven. Make a frosting of the whites of the eggs with sugar enough to make a stiff frosting, before spreading this on the top of the pudding, lay thin slices of orange all over the top cover this with the frosting.

A dainty way to make chocolate is to set an earthen pot into a kettle of boiling water; in this place a quart of milk and cream mixed. Stir into this when it is hot a paste made by mixing three heaping tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate with a little cold milk. Let this boil, for two or three minutes, and serve very hot. If the chocolate is sweetened, it is better not to add sugar, but let each one add it at the table if it is not sweet enough, but if the unsweetened chocolate is used, two dessertspoonfuls may be put in while it is cooking. Cream is the greatest addition.

Bananas and oranges sliced and mixed in a salad bowl may be made into a delicious salad by pouring over them a dressing made thus: to the juice of two oranges and one gill of sherry wine and two ounces of sugar, and the white of one egg, beat to the boiling point, then let it stand where it will not boil hard, but will remain simmering for five minutes. Strain through muslin. If you do not care to use wine, muslin. If you do not care to use wine, lemon juice will be used instead. When cold, it is prepared. It should be placed on ice, an ice-box or a very cold closet will do, and upon the table.

If you choose you may sprinkle over this crisp cabbage chopped very fine or celery, also chopped fine. With turkey or game of any kind, this cannot be equalled as an entree.

OPENING THE POST STAMP
In numbered sealed bulletins bene th the skin is loosed the liquid substance which allows the hair to stay soft, color and glossy. When this secretion stops the hair becomes dry and lifeless, brittle and will become dry, lustreless, brittle and fall out. Is it that the scalp is dried up? Your hair needs only Parker's Hair Balsam to restore the color, gloss and life by removing the action of nature. Dandruff will not be found on the head, but on the scalp, and is not an oily, scaly, but an abnormal, unhealthy article, highly objectionable in the toilet. Parker's Hair Balsam is a perfect dressing, and will restore faded or gray hair to its original color. It is not a dye, but an elegant preparation, which imparts life and beauty to the hair. It is reported that Mr Morrison is growing more peevish every day That tariff bill will not only ruin his Presidential aspirations but his peace of mind as well

The Boston Globe is calling for the passage of the Morrison bill while Gen Butler at whose shrine the Globe is a devout worshiper pronounces the bill an absurdity

Instead of attending to the business of the country the Democratic Congressmen are devoting all their time to a futile attempt to dispose of the tariff question in such a way that shall not injure them in the coming campaign Thus far they seem to progress backward

It was thought very funny when a Georgia Representative offered a resolution in the House Monday directing Senator Sherman to investigate the Ku Klux outrages in Cincinnati but says the Boston Journal when it is remembered that Cincinnati is a Democratic city represented by Democratic Congressmen from a State whose Democratic Governor was elected to office on the distinct Democratic platform of Free Whiskey and No Sunday the resolution is not at all funny from the Democratic standpoint

Walter L Campbell who has been nominated by the Republicans of Youngstown O for Mayor lost his eyes by an accident when only five years of age He is however a college graduate and a man of learning and ability His memory is remarkable He is an editor by profession has done a great deal of excellent literary work and is the author of a work on political economy Although absolutely sightless he goes about the world as readily as if he had two good eyes, and has never met with an accident

In connection with the announcement that Chairman Morrison is to make an address before the Iroquois Club in Chicago a Democrat who has no affection for the Morrison bill said "I think that is a good idea of Morrison's I hope he will not try to call up his bill in the House until after his visit to Chicago He can try the bill on the noble Iroquois and if he can pass it there without breaking up the Club he may stand a better chance to get it through the House without splitting the party in twain At any rate the experience he will gain in Chicago will do him no harm

A Reliable (?) Sheet

[Commercial March 29]

The views of ex Chief Justice Appleton on the subject of the proposed Prohibitory amendment will be of general interest throughout the State

* * * * *

The opinion of the ex-Judge that a high license law is the best method of dealing with the liquor question in Maine is also highly important at this time when there is manifest so strong a determination on the part of one of the great political parties to stamp itself in opposition to the weighed and found wanting policy of Prohibition

The Commercial of last evening under the head "A plain statement" announced that it was upon the shorter of the two paragraphs quoted above that "the whole rabid Prohibition press has built its assertion that the Commercial represented Judge Appleton as opposing the amendment because he believes in license, and then added "We will allow the public to form from this its own opinion as to the honesty or intelligence with which these rabid sheets treat this important question"

Nothing could more plainly illustrate the thoroughly unreliable and malignantly deceptive policy upon which the Central street organ is conducted than the above. For the sake of attacking the Prohibitory law the editor of that paper wilfully distorted certain casual remarks of the distinguished gentleman, and then when its disgusting methods were exposed it attempted to extricate itself from a position to which no reputable newspaper would descend by a deliberate falsehood Unfortunately for it, however, its own columns furnish the absolute proof of its calumny

There is a vast difference between doubting the expediency of the amendment and favoring a license law, and nothing in the original article in the Commercial purporting to give the views of Judge Appleton on the amendment question, intimated that he had given the subject of license any particular thought, but the editor of the Commercial first "inferred," then asserted that he favored a "license law" and then went a step further and telegraphed this "inference" to the anti-Prohibitory press

[Commercial April 4]

From what Judge Appleton has at different times said he evidently believes that upon the whole a high license law would be the best policy for Maine to adopt in dealing with the liquor question

Mr Blaine's New Book

CONTINUATION OF CHAPTERS—JUDGE BLACK—BUCHANAN'S CABINET—JOHN B FLOYD AND THOMAS—THEIR CHARACTER AND CONDUCT IN THE CABINET AND SECESSION

A fit his native State Judge Black was devoted attached He inherited the blood of two strong elements of its population—the German and the Scotch Irish—and he united the best characteristics of both in his own person. He had always looked upon Pennsylvania as the guardian of the Federal Union, almost as the guarantor of its safety and perpetuity He spoke of her as the protecting power that protected the slave states from the waves of radicalism which were threatening to engulf Southern institutions The success of the Republican party in 1860 he regarded as a portent of direct evil—indeed as a present disaster immeasurably sorrowful The excitement in the Southern States over the probability of Mr Lincoln's election he considered natural their serious protest altogether justifiable He desired the free States to be unawakened to the gravity of the situation, to be thoroughly alarmed, and to repent of their sins against the South He wished it understood from every quarter that the position of the Republican party was inconsistent with loyalty to the Union and that its permanent success would lead to the destruction of the government.

It was not unnatural that with these extreme views he should be carried beyond the bounds of prudence, and that, in his headlong desire to rebuke the Republican party as enemies of the Union, he should aid in precipitating a dissolution of the Government before the Republicans could enter upon its administration He thus became in large degree responsible for the unsound position and the dangerous teachings of Mr Buchanan In principle some the worst doctrines embodied in the President's evil message came directly from his opinion given by Judge Black as Attorney General and made by Mr Buchanan still more odious and more dangerous by the quotation of a part and not the whole

It was soon manifest, however, to Judge Black that he was playing with fire and that while he was himself dealing only in arousing the country to the dangers of anti slavery agitation Mr Buchanan's administration was actively and effectually aiding the Southern conspiracy for the destruction of the Union This all the drowsy Judge Black suddenly and unbelievably He was personally intimate with General Cass and when that venerable statesman retired from the Cabinet to preserve the record of loyalty to the Union, Judge Black realized that he was himself confronted by a task to which he attached his political destruction Could he afford as Secretary of State to follow publicly what General Cass believed would destroy his own fame? General Cass was nearly four score years of age with his public career ended his work done

Judge Black was but fifty and he had before him possibly the most valuable and most ambitious period of his life He saw at a glance that if General Cass could not be sustained in the North West he could not be sustained in Pennsylvania He possessed the moral courage to stand firm to the end in defiance of opposition and regardless of obloquy If he could be sure he was right But he had begun to doubt and doubt led him to review with care the position of Mr Buchanan and to count the inevitable consequences He did it with conscience and with courage He had none of that subserviency to Southern wishes which had injured so many Northern Democrats Until he entered the Cabinet in 1857, he had never come into personal association with Mr Buchanan from the time of playing States and his keen observation could not fail to discern the inferiority of all himself of the four Southern members of the Cabinet

Judge Black entered upon his duties as Secretary of State on the 17th of December—the day on which the Disunion convention of South Carolina assembled He found the malign influence of Mr Buchanan's message fully at work throughout the South Under its encouragement only three days were required by the convention of Charleston to pass the Ordinance of Secession and four days later Governor Pickens issued a proclamation declaring South Carolina a separate sovereign, free and independent State with the right to levy war, conclude peace and negotiate treaties From that moment Judge Black's position towards the Southern leaders was evidently changed They were no longer fellow Democrats They were the enemies of the Union to which he was devoted they were conspirators against the government to which both had taken a solemn oath of fidelity and loyalty

Judge Black's change however triumphant in his own case would prove comparatively fruitless unless he could influence Mr Buchanan to break with the men who had been actually using the power of his administration to destroy the Union The opportunity and the test came promptly The new sovereign, free and independent government of South Carolina sent commissioners to Washington to negotiate for the surrender of the national forts, and the Secretary of the navy proposed that while the politicians should be arranging an apparent plan answer to their request which was compromising to the honor of the Executive and perilous to the last grasp of the Union Judge Black struck a decided and irrevocable stand against the Proposed position. He advised Mr Buchanan that upon the basis of that fatal concession to the Disunion leaders he could not remain in his Cabinet It was a high issue, but was soon adjusted Mr Buchanan gave way and permitted Judge Black and his associates, Holt and Stanton, to frame a reply for the administration

Jefferson Davis, Mr Toombs, Mr Benjamin, Mr Slidell who had been Mr Buchanan's intimate and confidential advisers, and who had led him to the brink of ruin, found themselves suddenly supplanted, and a new power installed at the White House Foiled, and no longer able to use the National administration as an instrument to destroy the National life, the Secession leaders in Congress turned upon the President with angry reproaches In their rage they lost all sense of the respect due to the Chief Magistrate of the Nation and assailed Mr Buchanan with an openness as well as violence Senator Benjamin spoke of him as "a senile Executive, under the sinister influence of manic counsels" This exhibition of malignity towards the misguided President afforded to the North the most convincing and satisfactory proof that there had been a change for the better in the plans and purposes of the Administration. They realized that what took a deep sense of impending danger which could separate Mr Buchanan from his political associations with the South, and they recognized in his position a significant proof of the desperate determination to which the enemies of the Union had come

The stand taken by Judge Black and his legal associates was in the last days of December, 1860. The re-organization of the Cabinet came as a matter of necessity Mr John B Floyd resigned from the War Department, making loud proclamation that his action was based on the President's refusal to surrender the National forts in Charleston Harbor to the Secession Government of South Carolina This manifestly was not necessary to establish Floyd's treasonable intentions towards the Government, but in point of truth, the fact was undoubtedly a pretense, to cover reasons of a more personal character which would at once deprive him of Mr Buchanan's confidence. There had been irregularities in the War Department tending to compromise Mr Floyd, for which he was afterwards indicted in the District of Columbia. Mr Floyd well knew that the first knowledge of these irregularities would lead to his dismissal from the Cabinet Whatever Mr Buchanan's faults as an Executive may have been, his honor in all transactions, both personal and public was unquestionable and he was the last man to lend his name to cover from the pack of rightful charges

Mr Thompson, the Secretary of the Interior, followed Mr Floyd, after a short interval Mr Cobb had left the Treasury a few days before General Cass resigned from the Cabinet, and had gone to Georgia to stimulate secession movements there. The scheme of destroying the government, His successor was Philip Francis Thomas, of Maryland, who entered the Cabinet as a representative of the principles whose announcement had forced General Cass to resign The change of policy to which the President was now fully committed, forced Mr Thomas to resign after a month's service He frankly stated that he was unable to agree with the President and his other advisers In reference to the condition of things in South Carolina and therefore tendered his resignation Mr Thomas adhered to the Union, and always maintained an upright and honorable character, but his course at that crisis deprived him subsequently of the seat in the United States Senate though he later period he served in the House as representative from Maryland

Mr Cobb, Mr Floyd, and Mr Thompson had all run amuck in the Cabinet after the President's election in November, in full sympathy and so far as possible in full co-operation with the men in the South who were organizing resistance to the authority of the Federal Government Neither those gentlemen nor any friend of their behalf ever went to the length of avowing as sworn officers of the United States, they could remain in their posts consistently with the laws of honor—laws still binding upon the man not only as public officials who had taken a solemn oath of fidelity to the Constitution but also as private gentlemen whose good faith was pledged anew every hour they remained in control of the departments with whose administration they had been intrusted Their course is not only contrasted with that of many Southern men (of whom General Cass and the two Johnsons were conspicuous examples) who refused to hold office at positions under the National Government a single day after they had determined to take part in the scheme of Disunion

FREE TRADERS AFRAID TO TRUST THE PEOPLE KNOWN

[Wall Street New York Tribune

At least one free trade member of the Ways and Means Committee seems afraid to have published so that Representatives may have an opportunity to study and examine them for a genuine and statements recently submitted to the Committee in opposition to the Morrison bill. Only 100 copies of the report of the hearings were printed and they were for the use of the members of the committee so that of course there has been no opportunity for other members of the House to obtain copies for which there has been a Democratic demand not only from Congressmen, but from persons throughout the country who are deeply interested in the proposed legislation

In the House, this morning, Mr Anderson of Kansas offered and asked unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of a resolution for the printing of one copy of the report for the use of each member of the House—333 copies in all Mr Mills of Texas a member of the Ways and Means Committee promptly objected and the resolution was referred to the committee in the face of the secret official announcement that the House is to be asked to consider the Morrison bill next week

REPRESENTATIVES DEPRIVED OF A RIGHT

The members of the House are certainly entitled to have before them all the facts and arguments upon which or in defiance of which the committee has acted in reporting in favor of the Morrison bill, concessions or evidence whatever to the report with Mr A dergon asked the House to publish for the information of members a less such an allusion was provoked by the injustice of the committee when it said That the calamity of frequent recurring industrial embarrassment and enforced idleness is insupportable from the examples of our protective system and that the calamities of such a system always fall upon the laboring poor The report if published, will not itself completely refute these assertions. Perhaps that is why the free-traders object to its publication

To illustrate of the result of the election in Rhode Island the Providence Journal says The result of the election in the state shows the complete unity and harmony of the Republican party in support of its general principles and in the dorsement of the candidate and worthy state administration The spasm of disinterested ambitious hatred and unworthy personal sympathy which is manifest last year has entirely subsided and the party is thoroughly trained to the sense of the conservative Union and fidelity of the State and its position and duty in regard to the National election This assurance of success did not produce overconfidence and the largely increased registration of the Democracy was more than counterbalanced by the increased vote of the Republicans Gove o Rodman's majority this writing promises to be the neighborhood of 6 000 and the General Assembly is strengthened in its Republican forces The result, in general is therefore a most satisfactory one and will be a mauvais quart to the Presidential contest of National as well as state influences

BURNING BRUSH

Disastrous Results of Brush Fires

RALEIGH, N C, April 4 For three days the most destructive fires ever known to the people living along the southern border of this State are sweeping to six or seven counties Vast forests of long leaf pine are attacked They formed the principal source of lumber supply Hundreds of thousands of trees were burned and scores of the largest turpentine orchards in the State were destroyed Many farm houses were destroyed The people have been busy fighting the fire A number of persons have escaped At Manley, on the Raleigh & Augusta Railway a number of houses were burned Large stores of lumber and mill and sills on the road were also destroyed A dozen turpentine distilleries are in ruins

The extent of the disaster is not yet known Many families have been rendered homeless The fire swept here and there in this and in one direction and thirty miles in another No places are reported to be burned The fires were caused by burning brush and a high wind drove the flames to the turpentine woods, so they say Reports from all directions at once The fire is now raging in South Carolina on the line of the Carolina, Columbia & Augusta Railroad Trains have been running through the fire Two dwellings and a store were burned in that district So far as known only two lives were lost

CINCINNATI COURTS

A Change of Policy Necessary

CINCINNATI, April 4 The first sentencing of prisoners took place to-day in Judge Johnston's Court Belle Osborn, colored, convicted of shooting with intent to kill, received seven years She begged hard for her sentence was pronounced, but the judge began to say as follows I will modify the sentence when the prosecutor interposed by saying This woman has been before the Criminal Court again and again and something must be done to check courtesy for no other purpose. The judge permitted the sentence to remain

THE CUBAN INSURRECTION

An Effort to Capture that Mysterious Schooner

NEW YORK, April 4 A Washington special says that the escape of the Key West from Key West with armed men, arms and munitions for Cuban use has probably interfered with Spain and has brought several officers upon the scene of the Government Inspector upon to secure, not only information of the object of the expedition, but if possible to seize it The Secretary does not favor a repetition of the Virginius affair which cost the Government several millions of dollars and so he is doing what he can to bring about the capture of the vessel and thus avoid any diplomatic complications with Spain He said last evening that from the little information he had he was inclined to believe that the destination of the vessel was San Domingo and not Cuba and that the passengers who recently arrived in Boston on the steamer Seminole and then proceeded to Halifax had no intention to land Domingo Several persons connected with the scheme to fit out the filibustering movements have been arrested

Another Dispatch

WASHINGTON, April 4 Secretary Frelinghuysen and Secretary Chandler and Acting Secretary Trenholm had a brief conference this afternoon in regard to the alleged filibustering expedition against Cuba said to be organized at Key West It was stated that the Collector of Customs at Key West and the boundaries of the revenue cutters Dexter and Boutwell, and of the U S steamers Kanawha Swatara and Yantic have been advised of the reported violation of neutrality and directed to use every effort to intercept the offenders. Three naval vessels are now on their way to Cuban waters as also the revenue steamer, in order to assist in finding the schooner Shotem The revenue steamer will remain in the vicinity of Key West on the lookout for any suspicious craft which may leave or sail from that port.

BOSTON, April 4 Writs of attachment were issued to-day against the property of the Equitable Insurance Company of Hall, Ex-Chief Clerk of the Comptroller's office, was sentenced to twelve years in prison to-day for forgery and embezzlement.

STEAMER SUNK.

ANOTHER TERRIBLE DISASTER.

Some One Hundred and Thirty Persons

SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN DROWNED.

IMPOSSIBLE TO REACH THE SCENE OF THE WRECK

BOSTON, April 4 It is reported here that the steamer Daniel Steinmann, Antwerp for New York, via Halifax, is sunk off Sambro, about fifteen miles from Halifax, and that 130 lives were lost

Another Despatch

HALIFAX, N S, April 4 Intelligence received here thus far from the wreck of the Daniel Steinmann is very meagre It is said the captain and five of the crew were the only persons saved The steamer had ninety passengers and a crew of thirty-four Twenty of the passengers, all Germans, were to land here and seventy were for New York. It is thought the Steinmann struck on The Sisters, off Sambro, last night, and shortly afterward sank Her masts are now visible from the shore Intelligence of the wreck did not reach here until afternoon Considerable of the cargo was for this port and the remainder for New York The owners of the vessel have gone to the scene of the wreck.

Meagre Information

NEW YORK, April 4 The only information received by Funch, Edye & Co, agents for the steamer Daniel Steinmann, is a brief despatch stating that the vessel was lost off, Sambro, and that Schoonhaven and five of the crew saved The officers of the company said they could not imagine how the accident occurred, but thought probably it happened during a fog or gale They said the steamer generally carried but very few cabin passengers, being chiefly engaged in the steerage passenger and freight business They had no idea of the number of passengers or crew The amount of cargo on board would probably reach 2000 tons, 400 tons of which were for Halifax.

He considered Capt Schoonhaven a very careful and painstaking man The Steinmann was built in Antwerp in 1874. She was 277 feet in length, 34 feet beam, and 25 feet depth of hold Her gross tonnage was 2,780 tons. Her name was formerly Rhedive. She had been running in the White Cross Line since 1878 At one time she was considered a very successful vessel, but during the last two or three years she had met with mishaps

Three Passengers Saved

HALIFAX, N S, April 4 Three passengers from the Daniel Steinmann were saved with the captain and five of the crew. Their names have not been ascertained. They are all on Sambro Light Island, the only communication with which is by signal, in rough weather This Island is three miles from Sambro, and it is uncertain if any further particulars are to be had Reporters have left for Sambro by land, but the roads are bad and even when there their chances of securing information to-night are small regarding the wrecked steamer is that out of a crew of thirty-one and captain and ninety passengers only nine reached the shore, the captain, life of the crew and three passengers, who have now gone to Sambro Island The steamer Newfield left this city at three o'clock this afternoon for the scene of the wreck, but the fog was so dense and thick it was impossible to reach the fatal spot Another effort will be made by the Newfield to-morrow to reach the spot. Three steam tugs also endeavored to make their way to the sunken vessel, but were compelled to turn back being unable to get further than Herring Cove, some ten miles from the wreck The wrecking schooner, well equipped and with divers will leave here in the morning for the wreck, to raise the bodies of the drowned and whatever cargo can be saved.

A number of reports are in circulation in regard to where the vessel struck The most plausible is that she sunk on White Horse Shoal, within a short distance of Sambro Island Her exceedingly roughness before she went will probably cause her rapid breaking up The captain of the Steinmann having only been in this port three months, it is not probable that he was aware of the dangerous coast around Sambro, or of the awful peril until too late to avoid disaster

FORTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS—First Session.

House.

At 12 15 the House went into Committee of the Whole on the Indian Appropriation bill Consideration of the bill having been concluded the committee rose and the bill was passed

At 1 50 the House went into Committee of the Whole on the private calendar

The committee resumed its session until 5 30 considering a bill to relieve certain soldiers of the late war from the charge of desertion, but no final action was arrived at.

Mr Cook of Iowa presented to the House to-day through the petition box a paper signed by about fifty citizens of Avery, Ia, which opens with the words, "We the undersigned sovereign citizens," and the undersigned command you our servants," demanding the passage of a bill to construct a double track steel railway from New York to San Francisco and declaring that not another Dollar be sent to national banks or squandered on canals

The House at 4 35 P. M., took recess until 7 30 P. M.

At the evening session the House passed eighteen pension bills and then adjourned

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

FROM WASHINGTON

News About the Capital

The Pacific Railroads

Washington, April 4. The report of the Pacific Railroad Committee censures Controller Knox and censure Bank Examiner Needham. Work in the Committees

Members of the Ways and Means Committee say no effort will be made next week to begin consideration of the tariff bill

The House Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads to-day by a vote of 8 to 2 adopted the following Resolved, that it is the sense of the committee that it is inexpedient for the Government either to construct a postal telegraph or purchase any existing line of telegraph. The House Committee on Indian Affairs to-day agreed upon a bill providing for an appeal from the Indian Tribunals to the Federal Courts in citizen plaintiffs among the civilized Indian tribes

Postal Telegraph

The Senate Committee on Post Offices this afternoon agreed by a vote of four to three to report favorably a bill to provide for the establishment of a postal telegraph system Senators Hill, Wilson, Sawyer and Jackson voted for it and Senators Saulsbury, Harney and Groome negatively Senators Palmer and Mahone the remaining members are absent The bill agreed on provides for the establishment for a postal telegraph system under the supervision of the Postmaster General who is to be authorized to enter into contract for a term of five years with some telegraph company already organized or which will hereafter be organized, for the performance of service for the Government and to advertise for proposals from companies here or hereafter to be organized for the sale of their lines to the Government

It also provides that in event of the failure of the Postmaster General to enter into any such contracts or purchase existing lines of the telegraph, the Government shall construct its own system of lines and operate the same The seven members of the committee who were present at the meeting voted unanimously for the establishment of a postal telegraph system by contract with a company already organized or hereafter to be organized, but on the question of building Government lines of telegraph they were divided as above

The bill places on waiting orders with waiting order pay all officers of the revenue marine who are or who shall be totally disabled for regular duty, or who shall be 62 years of age, or who shall have served 40 years. The bill further provides that the President may by and with the advice of the Senate appoint from the list of captains in the revenue service captains whose pay shall be at the rate of $3,000 each per year and three fourths of that sum while on duty and one fourth of that sum while on leave of absence or waiting orders.

THE CHURCHES

New England Methodist Conference

BOSTON, April 4 In the New England Methodist Conference at Lynn this morning a report highly commendatory of Lovell Seminary was presented by the committee appointed last year and referred to the Committee on Education Ten young men were admitted to full connection with the conference An interesting letter from the wife of Dr. Edward Cook, who is lying severely ill at Cranzoburg, S C, was read in the conference, and at its conclusion a season of prayer was observed for his recovery A resolution of sympathy and fraternal interest was adopted A paper was adopted urging the observance of Children's Day, and directing out disciplinary requirements touching collections for educational purposes

The conference proceeded, with the order of the day, to the election of delegates to the next General Conference, in Philadelphia, in May next Fellers were appointed to collect ballots, and while they were out the conference listened to remarks from Dr Hunt, one of the agents of the book concern in New York, who gave an encouraging account of the work of that institution Dr Hunt was followed by Rev H W Hoyes, colored, of Tennessee, representing an important church enterprise

George Burnham, Jr. of the widely known firm of Burnham & Morrill, arrived in the city by Pullman train yesterday morning from Portland to see what progress is being made on the new steamer building for them in Brower by Capt. S H Barbour.

The work on the craft was found to be well advanced and she will be ready to launch early in May, thoroughly equipped for business. The hull is all completed, and boilers are now at work on the cabin. Her dimensions are 90 feet in length by 24 feet 6 inches, foothilth She will be supplied with two compound engines, 8x18 and 10x14, built by Paine of Boston, and expected to arrive next week The boilers is to be furnished by the Penobscot River Boiler Works and is now all completed She is to be a first class passenger steamer and will have a tonnage of about 200 tons The best of material is being used in her construction and she will in every way be a model boat, one which will reflect much credit on the builder and will be a valuable addition to the fleet of steamers of the Forest City She has been built for Messrs Burnham & Morrill and is to be used in a pleasure boat for the accommodation of guests at the Waldo House, on Little Cheshecague Island, Portland Harbor

The pony steamer built this season by Capt Barbour is practically complete and will be ready to enter the waters as soon as the ice leaves our river She is very substantially constructed and is admirably adapted for the service to which she will be put The members of the company for whom she was built are greatly pleased with the craft

The Lawyers Secret

It was in a luxuriously furnished room, where a glowing grate threw genial light and warmth upon the occupants, that Oswald Langton lawyer and millionaire reclined with bated breath and pallid cheeks to slow and melodious voice that told a story of a life

The speaker, a beautiful woman of about thirty, yet ten years younger than Mr Langton, reclining in a low cushioned chair, her dress, her attitude, both speaking of the ease wealth gives but her face was full of the deepest anguish, as her lips recounted this story.

You love me, she said gently yet sadly and I love you, as I never loved any one before, although I am a widow That you knew but you did not know my husband s name By my uncle s last request I dropped it and took his with the property he left me Do not look at me tenderly Gerald do not shake my voice or my heart for when you know who I am you will not repeat the offer you made me, and which Heaven is my witness, I tried to avert.

Let by gone conscience be at rest there, said her listener, in a grave yet tender voice, you have never given me one hope Maude By what instinct I knew that you loved me I can never tell Some thing in your eyes—some tone of your voice betrayed you If as you say, something in your past life does separate us, you have been no coquette to torment me with false hopes But Maude, tell me again Whatever stands between us, you love me

I love you, she said gravely, and it is because I love you that I will not let you link your honorable name with that of the wretch who was my husband

I was very young—not sixteen—when I met him He was invited to some friends house at Grassbank Uncle Richard had a country seat near the village I first met Alexander at a picnic, where he was the very life of the party ever body a cavalier courteous to all full of wit and animation and scintillating to all I believe every girl of the circle thought she had captivated him His attentions were so well divided that I was so impressed by each one. He said he was no more than a salesman in a large wholesale house with a good salary but he had the manners of a gentleman of good education and the most perfect beauty of face and form that I ever saw in a man It was not long, before it was evident he wished to win my love and he did an easy task.

Such love as a child of sixteen can give him He was the impersonation of every hero of poetry and fiction with whom my limited reading had made me familiar School girl like I had made an ideal hero and fitted this my first admirer, with all his imaginary perfections.

From the first Uncle Richard disliked him pronouncing him false and shallow and assuring him that my personal attractions had not won his heart but the fact of my being an heiress to a large property had gained me the protections in which I had so firmly believed scoundrel who actually made me believe him innocent of the hideous murder for which he was convicted I confess extenuation for some murders, but this cold-blooded assassination of an old man for money only was revolting How he detested me though, for a time And how he exulted over his success in doing so when he saw facts were too strong Shall I go to him? I suppose I must It is still very early.

It was not yet midnight when Gerald Langton was ushered into the cell of the man who, in a few short hours was to meet the extreme penalty of the law for the worst of all crime

Yet there was nothing revolting in the appearance of the criminal His dress was neat, his hair carefully arranged his mustache faultless, his hands white and well shaped looking He rose from his seat upon the bed as the lawyer entered the cell.

I knew you would come this said, courteously I thought you were grounded in my want of frankness Well, this is all over You will not refuse the last request of a dying man Langton?

Not if I grant it, was the reply

This said the murderer is not my first offence against the law Some years ago I was sentenced to a term of years for forgery By a strange accident I escaped the penalty On the same day James Fox was sentenced to two years for burglary and we were sent together to prison James Fox—my companion, understood, not myself—was deranged but his lawyer had not been able to save him, as his aberration was not always apparent When we were entered upon the books of the prison Imagine my surprise when my fellow prisoner gave my name for his own Like a flash I saw advantage to be gained by the deception and allowed the error to pass My companion committed suicide and I escaped with two years imprisonment instead of seven But I regretted my cowardice and went to Canada

There I lived by my wits until a year ago, when I returned to try to get money for my wife and thought I saw my gaoler plan by committing the crime for which I die to-morrow But I want to see my wife I wronged her—I robbed her—but Heaven is my witness I love her When I was put in prison she dropped my name and took her own again So it is not for Mrs Alexander Hall you must go but for Mrs Maude Temple

Was the room reeling—the ceiling falling—the walls closing around him Gerald Langton felt as they were as the name fell upon his ears Maude—his Maude—the wife of this cool villain who talked of his crime as if they were ordinary events? Well he knew that to marry this man s message was to separate his self from Maude forever Never Would she let him marry the widow of a murderer? Very rapidly all the terrible facts passed one after the other, and he said

Do you love her why add a misery to her life? She may have lived down the old path you caused her, why, for selfish gratification, will you make her whole life a misery?

She was my wife I would bid her farewell

She is not your wife Your own crimes have released her from any allegiance to you

You know her

I know what she suffered, and beg of you to let her still believe you died years ago

She is happy?

Scarcely that such wounds as hers never heal entirely, but it is cruelty to tear them open when they are quiet

Has she married?

No! she is still our widow

It is hard to deny myself one more sight of her face, and the hope I had that she would say that she forgives me

Think of her not of yourself

There was a long silence in the cell

Keep a track of Gerald Langton heart was pain to him but Alexander Hall sat in moody silence, evidently reluctant to give up his wish

At last he spoke

If you have been very good to me Tell me now if you have any personal reason for your request Perhaps you love her

I do was the brief reply She has promised to be my wife

Then it will be James Fox who is hanged to-morrow I meant to give my real name, but I will carry my secret with me to the grave It may be for another world that this little last self-denial will be a plea for me Go now I do not trust me

He kept his word and Gerald Langton his secret

When Maude a few weeks later became his wife she little guessed the terrible ordeal which he had spared her or the added disgrace that belonged to the name she had given up

Bulwer Lytton's Bridge.

Where it Touches the Shores and the Great Columns in Midstream

What a beautiful bridge between old age and childhood is religion How intuitively the child begins with prayer and worship on entering life and how intuitively on quitting life the old man runs back to prayer and worship plotting himself again to lay side with the infant remarks Sir Bulwer Lytton in his Strange Story

Yet, between its distant abutments the bridge of life has many high and awful arches through which the wild waters dash and roar in wrath and desolation Prayer and worship alone do not sustain these Nature a solid rock must lie unbroken beneath, and human art and skill must rear and solid by the structure overhead Goal s will is best exemplified in the laws He has made for the creatures whom He has placed under their control Neither the child s trustful Our Father for the child that forgets me not is the initial of mine infirmities will alter this by the weight of a single word and act first—then faith and prayer—is the road of Heaven itself Divin ty heals through its agents and those agents are the discoveries of man but the vague unknown agents of prophets or seers life s burden is not to be lightened by a new power to cope with life s problem and duties weakened? You are not well Your blood is sluggish and tainted perhaps or some important organ is torpid or overworked. This fact may have taken the form of dyspepsia rheumatism gout, malaria, pains in the stomach chronic headache or any of a dozen other ills FAREWELL Tonic will invigorate you as fresh air invigorates those who have been shut up in damp fetid cells It is powerful pure delicious, scientific safe—the keystone of the central arch of the bridge of life

YOUR GRANDFATHER

TRIED IT BEFORE YOU WERE BORN AND YOUR GRANDCHILDREN will use it long after you are dead and gone, and when the pestiferous "pellets" (?) so extensively advertised by enterprising firms, and bolstered up by TESTIMONIALS (?) from honest and well meaning people—who like Professional Nursing sisters times served here to-day, and there to-morrow—to-day willing to swear that SARSAPARILLA DEER saved their lives, and to-morrow that they were mistaken that it was GIN and MOLASSES

ALL THAT AILS YOU IS THAT YOU ARE

BILIOUS,

OR HAVE JAUNDICE—which is an almost invariable accompaniment to a change of season.

There is an old and tried remedy in

DR. MANLY HARDY'S
Genuine Jaundice Bitters.

EVERYBODY KNOWS THEY ARE GOOD.

Those who throw away money for a free dose, more expensive and comparatively worthless.

For sale by Druggists and Country Merchants generally.

50 cents for Dry 75 cents for Liquid in two sizes.
